

Carnival Rio comes to town

KUALA LUMPUR,
Mon.—The Brazilian Carnival is in town—brought to you by 10 dancers of the Rio Carnival '73 dance troupe.

Their show at the Federal Hotel is a riot of colour and music as the dancers in colourful plumage and long flimsy silk skirts dance to frenzied carnival music.

Troupe leader and choreographer Gilbert De Assis said: "Dancing is in our blood. We are on the move throughout the year, performing in all parts of the world. But we make it a point to go back to Brazil at least once a year in search for new costumes, music and dances."

Picture: Five members of the dance troupe. Standing from left: Gilbert, Patricia and Jenny. Louna and Loisa are squatting.—Straits Times pix.

ASIA-9563

Carnival Rio comes to town

KUALA LUMPUR,
Mon.—The Brazilian Carnival is in town—brought to you by 10 dancers of the Rio Carnival '73 dance troupe.

Their show at the Federal Hotel is a riot of colour and music as the dancers in colourful plumage and long flimsy silk skirts dance to frenzied carnival music.

Troupe leader and choreographer Gilbert De Assis said: "Dancing is in our blood. We are on the move throughout the year, performing in all parts of the world. But we make it a point to go back to Brazil at least once a year in search for new costumes, music and dances."

Picture: Five members of the dance troupe. Standing from left: Gilbert, Patricia